4. Rights

Data Subject Rights

You have the rights described in sections 4.1 to 4.7.

If you wish to exercise any of these rights, please contact us using the contact details in section 1.

Identification

Before fulfilling your request, we must identify you. It is enough to provide a few personal data that we also have.

Response to the Request

After identification, we will provide information by mail or e-mail, depending on the form of your request.

Deadline for Administration

We will respond within 1 month from receiving your request.

If necessary – considering the complexity and number of requests – this period may be extended by 2 more months. You will be informed of the extension within the first month.

We will also inform you if no action is taken.

In this case, you can file a complaint with the NAIH (see point 5.1) or take legal action (see point 5.2).

Cost of Administration

Information and action based on your request are free of charge.

Exception: if the request is clearly unfounded or – especially due to its repetitive nature – excessive.

In such cases, we may charge a fee or refuse to act on the request.

4.1. You can withdraw your consent

If data processing is based on your consent, you may withdraw it at any time.

Withdrawal does not affect the lawfulness of processing that occurred before the withdrawal.

4.2. You can request information (access)

You can ask to find out:

- What is the purpose of data processing?
- What personal data do we process?
- Who do we share the data with?
- How long do we keep it?
- What rights and legal remedies do you have?
- Where did we get your data from?
- Do we use automated decision-making based on your data?

If data is transferred to an international organization or a non-EU country, you may ask how we ensure appropriate protection.

You may also request a copy of your personal data (we may charge a fee for additional copies).

4.3. You can request correction

You may request us to correct or complete any personal data that is inaccurate or incomplete.

4.4. You can request deletion of your personal data (“right to be forgotten”)

You can request deletion if:

- a) The data is no longer needed for the purpose of processing
- b) You have withdrawn your consent
- c) The data processing was unlawful
- d) You have successfully objected to the processing
- e) The law requires the data to be deleted

Data cannot be deleted if it is necessary:

- To ensure freedom of expression and access to information
  - To fulfill a legal obligation
  - To submit, enforce or defend legal claims

4.5. You can request restriction of data processing

You may request restriction if:

- You dispute the accuracy of the data
- Processing is unlawful but you do not request deletion
- The purpose of processing no longer exists but you need the data for legal claims
- You have objected to processing (pending the outcome)

During restriction, we may only process the data:

- With your consent
  - To submit, enforce, or defend legal claims
  - To protect the rights of others
  - For reasons of important public interest

4.6. You can request the transfer of your data (data portability)

You can receive your personal data in a machine-readable format or request us to transfer it to another controller – if processing is based on consent or contract and carried out automatically.

4.7. You can object to data processing

You may object to processing if the legal basis is the legitimate interest of the Data Controller or a third party.

In this case, we will delete the data unless we have compelling legitimate reasons or the data is needed to submit, enforce, or defend legal claims.

5. Legal Remedies
